
ABOUT THE AUTHORS

DR. NOEL HUGO D. BINAG has practiced community development with global development agency, Plan-International, Philippines. He served as Division Chief Research Specialist, Rural Electrification Development and Management Division of the Department of Energy from 1997 to 2005. He obtained his undergraduate degree Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering from Cagayan State University, and his Master's degree in Public Administration and Ph. D. in Technology Education from RTU. Dr. Binag joined RTU in 2006 after serving for almost 20 years as an overseas Filipino worker, community worker, civil engineer, appraiser, part-time professorial lecturer and national government employee. He was a recipient of the funded study tour on International Delivery Mechanism (Phase II) under the UNDP/GEF PDF-B Project titled "Capacity Building to Remove Barriers on Renewable Energy Development in the Philippines." London and Scotland, United Kingdom on October 20-November 1, 2002. He also served as a part time faculty member of the RTU, College of Engineering and Industrial Technology, with Asia Pacific College, and with AMA University from 1988 to 2006. Currently, he is a full-time faculty of Rizal Technological University (RTU) and a private practicing civil engineer.

PROF. EPIFANIO SAN JUAN is currently emeritus professor of English, Comparative Literature and Ethnic Studies, University of Connecticut, and professorial lecturer at the Polytechnic University of the Philippines, Sta. Mesa, Manila. His latest books are Between Empire and Insurgency (University of the Philippines Press), Learning from the Filipino Diaspora (University of Santo Tomas Press), Wala: Mga Tula & Akda (Polytechnic University of the Philippines Press) and the Filipinas Everywhere (De La Salle University Press).

DR. RAUL ROLAND SEBASTIAN is the current Director of the Institute for Human and Social Development and concurrent Chairperson of the Doctor in Public Administration program of the Polytechnic University of the Philippines. He teaches at the Department of History of the College of Social Sciences and Development. He graduated with Doctor of Public Administration from PUP and Master in Philippine Studies from the University of the Philippines. He has authored books on history and Rizal. His research interests include geopolitics, cultural governance, historiography, political and social history.

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

PROF. MARK ANTHONY M. QUINTOS is a graduate of BA Sociology (Cum laude) and Master of Arts in Sociology (part of the Top 5 of the Graduate School) from the University of the Philippines, Los Baños. He has taught in various top universities in the country including the University of the Philippines Los Baños (where he also served as head of the Sociology-Anthropology-Psychology Division of its Department of Social Sciences), Far Eastern University, and De La Salle University. As a Sociology professor, he has taught Social Demography, Sociology of Religion, Sociology of Deviance, Sociological Theories (undergraduate and graduate level), Methods in Social Research, Introduction to Sociology, Social Problems, Social Psychology, and special topics on Sociology of Education and Ethics in Sociological Research. He is currently taking a Juris Doctor degree at Arellano University School of Law and a Ph.D. in Health Sciences (with his dissertation focusing on Sociological Suicidology) in the University of the Philippines Manila simultaneously.

MS. MINAMI O. IWAYAMA obtained her Bachelor of Arts (2015) and Master of Arts (2017) degrees in Sociology from the University of the Philippines Los Baños, and is currently pursuing her Juris Doctor degree from Arellano University School of Law. She conducts empirical studies related to social psychology, sociology of religion, and labor migration. She has served as an Instructor at the University of Santo Tomas and is currently teaching at the Ateneo de Manila University and the Polytechnic University of the Philippines. She has taught Microsociology, Contemporary Sociological Theories, The Contemporary World, Understanding Culture Society and Politics, and World Society and Culture.

ASST. PROF. PAULO BENEDICTO C. VILLAR finished his Master in Asian Studies, major in China studies, from the Asian Center of the University of the Philippines, Diliman. He is an Assistant Professor, and currently a faculty member of the College of Social Sciences and Development of the Polytechnic University of the Philippines. He specializes on China studies, Philippine-China relations, and Chinese in the Philippines.